

Circular Economy Month

October is Circular Economy Month in Canada and Recycle My Electronics is focusing on raising awareness with Nova Scotians, while also celebrating a growing partnership with colleges and universities, such as NSCC.

EPRA/Recycle My Electronics has been working with the College to improve electronics reuse and recycling at our campuses across the province, including small household appliances generated in our new student housing buildings. On October 21st, Recycle My Electronics will visit the NSCC Akerley Campus with their mobile classroom and professional educators to raise awareness about the importance of recycling end-of-life electronics with NSCC students, faculty, and the wider community.

Recycle My Electronics wants to be sure that Nova Scotians know that by bringing their electronics to EPRA/Recycle My Electronics authorized locations, like NSCC, they are helping to grow the circular economy by recovering and recycling recoverable resources from end-of-life electronics that can be put back into the manufacturing supply chain, conserving natural resources.
